Day Reporting Elements

- Drug testing Drug testing is a key element of this program and random testing is done 1-3 times per week.
- Regular check-in times DRP participants check into the center on a daily basis (Monday-Saturday).
- Community supervision Offenders are closely monitored and held accountable while in the community. Officers complete random home, work and community checks every day.
- Daily itinerary sheet Daily itineraries outline all activities for each DRP participant.
- Electronic monitoring/curfew monitoring Insuring offenders are not out in the community when they are not approved to be. This reduces the potential for community crimes. We use both standard and GPS electronic monitoring units.

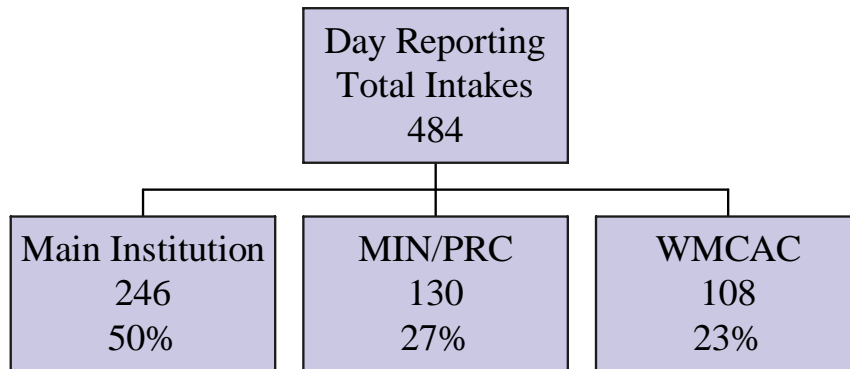

Day Reporting Elements

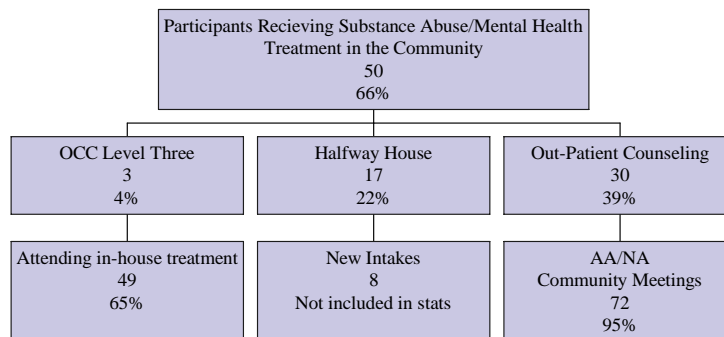

- Clear eligibility criteria The program has clear definitions as to eligibility for DRP and the sheriff's department has a classification grid to guide all movement decisions.
- A strong treatment component The DRP offers a wide array of treatment services with the focus on getting the participants needs met through collaborations with community based agencies.
- Employment development/life skills the DRP program offers opportunities for offenders to obtain employment and innovative vocational training. Educational opportunities are also provided.

Day Reporting Statistics

- Participants that complete our program have a much lower rate of recidivism. The most recent 3-year study had 23.7 percent of day reporting participants re-incarcerated and the House of Correction had 44 percent.
- The actual cost per inmate for FY 07 at the jail was $32,326 per year versus $16,855 for Day reporting.
- For FY08 we had a 77% success rate.

Day Reporting Statistics

- Last year we collected 7,766 urine screens and 82 (approximately 1%) were positive.
- We have had over 8,000 participants go through our program over the past 22 years.
- In 2007 there were 153 people released from DRP to parole and during this same time there were 28 warrants issued by parole (19%). Coincidentally there were the same number (153) released from medium security to parole but they had 76 warrants issued by parole (50%).
