

Overview of Statutory Mandatory Minimum Sentencing<sup>1</sup>

The Commission has identified at least 171 individual mandatory minimum provisions currently in the federal criminal statutes.<sup>2</sup> In the Commission's fiscal year 2008 datafile, there were 31,239 counts of conviction that carried a mandatory minimum term of imprisonment.<sup>3</sup> Because an offender may be sentenced for multiple counts of conviction that carry mandatory minimum penalties, these 31,239 counts of conviction exceed the total number of offenders (21,023 offenders, as reported below) who were convicted of statutes carrying such penalties.

Of these 31,239 counts of conviction, the overwhelming majority (90.7%) were for drug offenses (24,789 counts of conviction, or 79.4%) and firearms offenses (3,527 counts of conviction, or 11.3%). Most of the 171 mandatory minimum provisions rarely, if ever, were used in fiscal year 2008, with 68 such provisions not used at all.

A. Data on Mandatory Minimum Sentencing

In preparation for this analysis, the Commission reviewed data from its fiscal year 2008 datafile. For that fiscal year, the Commission received documentation for 76,478 cases.<sup>4</sup> Of these 76,478 cases, the Commission received sufficient documentation in 73,497 cases to determine whether the offender was convicted of a statute carrying a mandatory minimum penalty. Of these 73,497 cases, offenders in 21,023 cases (28.6%) were convicted of a statute carrying a mandatory minimum penalty.<sup>5</sup> Of these 21,023 offenders, 3,078 (14.6%) received a statutory mandatory minimum sentence that was required to be consecutive to any other sentence imposed.<sup>6</sup>

<sup>4</sup> The Commission is required to receive five sentencing documents from the district courts: the charging document, written plea agreement (if any); the presentence investigation report; the judgment and commitment order; and the statement of reasons form. See 28 U.S.C. § 994(w)(1). For fiscal year 2008, the Commission received 99.1% of all such documents. See USSC FY2008 Sourcebook, Table 1. The Commission also is required to analyze these documents and to compile data on federal sentencing trends and practices. See 28 U.S.C. §§ 994(w)(3), 995.

<sup>5</sup> For purposes of this analysis, an offender was considered to have been convicted under a statute carrying a mandatory minimum penalty if the court indicated the presence of a mandatory minimum on the statement of reasons form or other sentencing documentation received by the Commission conclusively established that one or more of the statutes of conviction carried such a penalty.

<sup>6</sup> See, e.g., 18 U.S.C. § 924(c)(requiring mandatory consecutive terms of imprisonment for certain firearms offenses).

1. Demographics

Table 1 provides demographic data for all cases in the Commission’s fiscal year 2008 datafile, as well as for those cases in which an offender was convicted of a statute carrying a mandatory minimum penalty.

As Table 1 indicates, of offenders sentenced in fiscal year 2008 for which the relevant sentencing documentation was received to determine race or ethnicity,<sup>7</sup> non-white offenders comprised 74.0 percent of offenders convicted of a statute carrying a statutory mandatory minimum penalty. This is slightly higher than the percentage of nonwhite offenders in the Commission’s overall fiscal year 2008 datafile, which was 70.2 percent. Black offenders are the only racial/ethnic group that comprised a greater percentage of offenders convicted of a statute carrying a mandatory minimum penalty (35.7%) than their percentage in the overall fiscal year 2008 offender population (24.0%).

<sup>7</sup> As indicated in Table 1, the Commission did not receive sufficient demographic information for all 76,748 cases in its overall fiscal year 2008 datafile or all 21,023 offenders convicted of an offense carrying a statutory mandatory minimum penalty.

For purposes of assessing the demographic impact of mandatory minimums, however, it is helpful to remove the federal immigration caseload from the analysis. Immigration offenders, 84.3 percent of whom in fiscal year 2008 were Hispanic, comprise a relatively large percentage of offenders in the overall federal caseload (19,333 out of the 70,786 cases or 27.3%), but comprise a relatively small percentage of the offenders convicted of a statute carrying a mandatory minimum sentence (1.2%). Therefore, inclusion of these offenders may skew the analysis of the impact of mandatory minimums by race and ethnicity. Table 2, accordingly, presents demographic data excluding immigration cases.

Excluding immigration cases, both Hispanic offenders and black offenders comprised a greater percentage of non-immigration offenders convicted of a statute carrying a mandatory minimum penalty than their percentage in the overall fiscal year 2008 offender population. As Table 2 indicates, Hispanic offenders convicted of a non-immigration statute carrying a mandatory minimum had a higher differential in this regard, comprising 35.4 percent of offenders convicted of a non-immigration statute carrying a mandatory minimum penalty but only 27.9 percent of the overall non-immigration offender population. Black offenders comprised 35.9 percent of offenders convicted of a non-immigration statute carrying a mandatory minimum penalty but only 31.5 percent of the overall non-immigration offender population.

2. Trial Rates

In the Commission's fiscal year 2008 data file, there were 76,427 cases for which the Commission received sufficient documentation to determine whether an offender pled guilty or was convicted after a trial. In these 76,427 cases, there were 73,617 offenders (96.3%) who pled guilty and 2,810 offenders (3.7%) who were convicted after a trial.<sup>8</sup> By comparison, of the 21,023 offenders convicted under a statute carrying a mandatory minimum penalty, 19,713 offenders (93.8%) pled guilty and 1,310 offenders (6.2%) were convicted after a trial.

B. Mechanisms for Relief from Mandatory Minimum Sentences

Before discussing the use of mandatory minimums for different types of offenses, it is important to note that Congress has provided two mechanisms by which offenders may be sentenced without regard to the otherwise applicable statutory mandatory minimum provisions: 18 U.S.C. § 3553(e)<sup>9</sup> and 18 U.S.C. § 3553(f).<sup>10</sup> Section 3553(e), upon motion of the Government,<sup>11</sup> authorizes the court to impose “a sentence below a level established by statute as a minimum sentence so as to reflect a defendant’s substantial assistance in the investigation or prosecution of another person who has committed an offense.” Section 3553(e) may be applied to any qualifying offender, without regard to the type of offense involved.

(e) Limited Authority To Impose a Sentence Below a Statutory Minimum.— Upon motion of the Government, the court shall have the authority to impose a sentence below a level established by statute as a minimum sentence so as to reflect a defendant’s substantial assistance in the investigation or prosecution of another person who has committed an offense. Such sentence shall be imposed in accordance with the guidelines and policy statements issued by the Sentencing Commission pursuant to section 994 of title 28, United States Code.

(f) Limitation on Applicability of Statutory Minimums in Certain Cases.— Notwithstanding any other provision of law, in the case of an offense under section 401, 404, or 406 of the Controlled Substances Act (21 U.S.C. 841, 844, 846) or section 1010 or 1013 of the Controlled Substances Import and Export Act (21 U.S.C. 960, 963), the court shall impose a sentence pursuant to guidelines promulgated by the United States Sentencing Commission under section 994 of title 28 without regard to any statutory minimum sentence, if the court finds at sentencing, after the Government has been afforded the opportunity to make a recommendation, that—

(1) the defendant does not have more than 1 criminal history point, as determined under the sentencing guidelines;

(2) the defendant did not use violence or credible threats of violence or possess a firearm or other dangerous weapon (or induce another participant to do so) in connection with the offense;

(3) the offense did not result in death or serious bodily injury to any person;

(4) the defendant was not an organizer, leader, manager, or supervisor of others in the offense, as determined under the sentencing guidelines and was not engaged in a continuing criminal enterprise, as defined in section 408 of the Controlled Substances Act; and

(5) not later than the time of the sentencing hearing, the defendant has truthfully provided to the Government all information and evidence the defendant has concerning the offense or offenses that were part of the same course of conduct or of a common scheme or plan, but the fact that the defendant has no relevant or useful other information to provide or that the Government is already aware of the information shall not preclude a determination by the court that the defendant has complied with this requirement.

<sup>11</sup> After the Supreme Court’s decision in United States v. Booker, 543 U.S. 220 (2005), a government motion is still required in order for 18 U.S.C. § 3553(e) to apply. See, e.g., United States v. Rivera, 170 Fed. App’x 209, 211 (2d Cir. 2006) (rejecting defendant’s argument that the government motion requirement be applied as advisory in light of Booker).

Section 3553(f), commonly referred to as the “safety valve,” provides an additional mechanism by which certain drug offenders<sup>12</sup> may be sentenced without regard to the otherwise applicable drug mandatory minimum provisions. In 1994, Congress passed the Violent Crime Control and Law Enforcement Act of 1994,<sup>13</sup> concluding that the “integrity and effectiveness of controlled substance mandatory minimums could in fact be strengthened if a limited ‘safety valve’ from operation of these penalties was created and made applicable to the least culpable offenders.” The Act created section 3553(f) to permit offenders “who are the least culpable participants in drug trafficking offenses, to receive strictly regulated reductions in prison sentences for mitigating factors” recognized in the federal sentencing guidelines.<sup>14</sup>

1. 18 U.S.C. § 3553(e): The Substantial Assistance Provision

Of the 21,023 offenders convicted under a statute carrying a mandatory minimum penalty, the Commission received sufficient sentencing documentation to determine whether the statutory substantial assistance provision applied in 19,628 cases. Of these 19,628 offenders, there were 3,831 (19.5%) offenders eligible to be sentenced without regard to the statutory mandatory minimum solely because a motion under 18 U.S.C. § 3553(e) was filed. Of these 3,831 eligible offenders, 2,714 offenders (13.8% of the 19,628 offenders) were sentenced without regard to and below the statutory mandatory minimum. The remaining 1,117 offenders (5.7% of the 19,628 offenders) received a sentence at or above the statutory mandatory minimum. Table 3 provides information regarding application of the substantial assistance provision per offense type.

<sup>12</sup> For purposes of 18 U.S.C. § 3553(f), the term “drug offenders” means offenders convicted under section 401, 404, or 406 of the Controlled Substances Act (21 U.S.C. § 841, § 844, or § 846, respectively) or section 1010 or 1013 of the Controlled Substances Import and Export Act (21 U.S.C. § 960 or § 963, respectively).

<sup>14</sup> See H. Rep. No. 103–460, 103rd Cong. 2nd Sess. (1994). As with the statutory substantial assistance provision, after Booker courts still are required to apply the statutory safety valve provision when its criteria are met. See, e.g., United States v. Krumnow, 476 F.3d 294, 297 (5th Cir. 2007) (a district court may sentence below a statutory minimum only if “(1) the Government makes a motion . . . asserting the defendant’s substantial assistance [18 U.S.C. 3553(e)]; or (2) the defendant meets the ‘safety valve’ criteria set forth in 18 U.S.C. § 3553(f)”) (citations omitted); United States v. Barrera, 562 F.3d 899, 902–04 (8th Cir. 2009) (defendant was not entitled to safety-valve relief from statutory minimum sentence when he did not meet the statutory requirements).

<sup>16</sup> Of the 70,786 cases referred to in footnote 15, supra, 25,337 (or 35.8%) were drug cases. Of those 25,337 cases, 24,321 cases had sufficient sentencing documentation to permit the remaining analysis in this table.

<sup>17</sup> Of the 70,786 cases referred to in footnote 15, supra, 19,333 (or 27.3%) were immigration cases. Of those 19,333 cases, 18,820 cases had sufficient sentencing documentation to permit the remaining analysis in this table.

<sup>19</sup> Of the 70,786 cases referred to in footnote 15, supra, 6,673 (or 9.4%) were firearms cases. Of those 6,673 cases, 6,212 cases had sufficient sentencing documentation to permit the remaining analysis in this table.

<sup>20</sup> Of the 70,786 cases referred to in footnote 15, supra, 2,087 (or 3.0%) were criminal sexual abuse/pornography/prostitution cases. Of those 2,087 cases, 2,034 cases had sufficient sentencing documentation to permit the remaining analysis in this table.

<sup>21</sup> Of the 70,786 cases referred to in footnote 15, supra, 8,765 (or 12.4%) were categorized as “other.” Of those 8,765 cases, 8,311 cases had sufficient sentencing documentation to permit the remaining analysis in this table.

2. 18 U.S.C. § 3553(f): The Safety Valve Provision

Of the 25,337 drug offenders sentenced in fiscal year 2008, there were 24,321 offenders for which the Commission received sufficient information to determine whether the statutory safety valve provision at 18 U.S.C. § 3553(f) applied. Of those 24,321 drug offenders, there were 16,198 offenders convicted under a statute carrying a mandatory minimum penalty. As Table 4 indicates, of those 16,198 drug offenders, there were 4,112 (25.4%) offenders who were eligible to be sentenced without regard to the statutory mandatory minimum penalty because the statutory safety valve applied. Of these 4,112 offenders, there were 3,803 offenders (23.5% of the 16,198 offenders) for whom 18 U.S.C. § 3553(f) was the sole statutory mechanism by which they were sentenced without regard to and below the mandatory minimum penalty. The remaining 309 offenders (1.9% of the 16,198 offenders) received a sentence at or above the statutory mandatory minimum.

As Table 4 also indicates, in some instances, a drug offender may receive the benefit of both the substantial assistance and safety valve statutory provisions. In the Commission's fiscal year 2008 datafile, there were 16,198 drug offenders for whom the Commission received sufficient sentencing documentation to determine whether both the substantial assistance provision under 18 U.S.C. § 3553(e) and the safety valve provision under 18 U.S.C. §3553(f) could have applied. Of these 16,198 drug offenders, there were 1,669 (10.3%) offenders who were eligible to be sentenced below the mandatory minimum because both the statutory substantial assistance and safety valve provisions applied. Of these 1,669 offenders, there were 1,634 drug offenders (10.1% of the 16,198 drug offenders) sentenced without regard to and below the mandatory minimum pursuant to these statutory provisions. The remaining 35 offenders (0.2% of the 16,198 drug offenders) received a sentence at or above the mandatory minimum sentence.

<sup>22</sup> Of the 25,337 drug offenders sentenced in fiscal year 2008, there were 24,321 offenders for which the Commission received sufficient information to determine whether the statutory safety valve provision at 18 U.S.C. § 3553(f) applied.

Table 4A provides a summary of the information contained in Tables 3 and 4 regarding the total number of drug offenders who were eligible to be sentenced, and who were sentenced, without regard to and below the statutory mandatory minimum because of the substantial assistance provision and the safety valve provision, either alone or in combination with one another. As shown in Table 4A, there were 9,047 drug offenders (55.9% of the 16,198 drug offenders) who were eligible to be sentenced without regard to and below the statutory mandatory minimum because of either or both of these provisions. Of those 9,047 offenders, 7,818 offenders (or 48.3% of the 16,198 drug offenders) were sentenced without regard to and below the statutory mandatory minimum.

C. Distribution of Mandatory Minimum Sentences by Offense Type

Table 3 provides information regarding distribution of mandatory minimum sentences by five major offense types. Of the 21,023 offenders convicted of a statute carrying a mandatory minimum penalty, the Commission received sufficient sentencing documentation to classify the offense type of which the offender was convicted in 19,628 cases. Of these 19,628 cases, 18,394 (93.7%) were distributed among four offense categories: drugs, firearms, fraud, and criminal sexual abuse/pornography/prostitution. As previously stated, the overwhelming majority of offenders convicted of a statute which carries a mandatory minimum penalty committed a drug trafficking offense (16,198 offenders, or 82.5%).<sup>24</sup>

1. Drug Offenses

Drug cases represented a large portion of the federal caseload in fiscal year 2008, accounting for 35.8 percent of the overall caseload in that fiscal year.<sup>25</sup> Drug offenders also represented the vast majority of those offenders convicted under a statute carrying a mandatory minimum penalty in fiscal year 2008, with 16,198 (82.5%) of the 19,628 offenders convicted under such statutes having committed a drug offense as classified by the Commission.

As previously indicated, however, a significant portion (9,047 of the 16,198 drug offenders, or 55.9%) of drug offenders convicted under a statute carrying a mandatory minimum penalty were eligible to be sentenced without regard to and below the mandatory minimum through substantial assistance under 18 U.S.C. § 3553(e), the safety valve under 18 U.S.C. § 3553(f), or a combination of substantial assistance and the safety valve. Of these 9,047 offenders, 7,818 (48.3%) were sentenced without regard to and below mandatory minimum provisions as follows: substantial assistance applied to 2,381 drug offenders (14.7%), the safety valve applied to 3,803 drug offenders (23.5%), and both substantial assistance and the safety valve applied to an additional 1,634 drug offenders (10.1%).

Table 5 illustrates the demographic characteristics of drug offenders convicted under a statute carrying a mandatory minimum penalty relative to the demographic characteristics of the overall federal drug offender population in fiscal year 2008.<sup>26</sup> As Tables 5 and 6 indicate together, the impact of drug mandatory minimum penalties on black drug offenders is largely driven by crack cocaine offenses. As shown in Table 6, if crack cocaine cases are excluded from the analysis, black drug offenders in fiscal year 2008 comprised 15.8 percent of the remaining drug cases and 15.8 percent of the remaining drug cases in which a drug mandatory minimum applied.

<sup>24</sup> For purposes of this analysis, the overall number of firearms offenders and the number of firearms offenders convicted of a statute carrying a mandatory minimum penalty do not include cases that were sentenced under a drug guideline in Chapter Two, Part D of the Guidelines Manual but also contained a count of conviction for a firearms offense, including 1,023 cases in which the defendant was sentenced under a drug guideline but was also convicted under 18 U.S.C. § 924(c).

<sup>26</sup> As indicated in Tables 5 and 6, the Commission did not receive sufficient demographic information for all 25,337 drug offenders sentenced in fiscal year 2008.

2. Firearms Offenses

Firearms offenses comprised 9.4 percent of the overall federal caseload in fiscal year 2008 and 3.8 percent (751 of the 19,628 offenders) of cases in which offenders were convicted of a statute carrying a mandatory minimum penalty. Of the 6,673 firearms cases in which the offender was sentenced in fiscal year 2008, the Commission received sufficient guideline information on 6,212 cases. As indicated in Table 3, of these 6,212 cases, in 751 (12.1%) cases the offender was convicted of a statute carrying a mandatory minimum penalty. Of those 751 offenders, 126 (16.8%) were eligible to be sentenced without regard to the statutory mandatory minimum penalty because the statutory substantial assistance provision applied. Of these eligible offenders, 101 (13.4% of the 751 offenders) were sentenced without regard to and below the applicable statutory mandatory minimum penalty. The remaining 25 offenders (3.3% of the 751 offenders) received a sentence at or above the statutory mandatory minimum.

For purposes of this analysis, the overall number of firearms cases and the number of firearms offenders convicted of a statute carrying a mandatory minimum penalty do not include cases that were sentenced under a drug guideline in Chapter Two, Part D of the Guidelines Manual but also contained a count of conviction for a firearms offense. Those cases, including 1,023 cases in which the defendant was sentenced under a drug guideline but was also convicted under 18 U.S.C. § 924(c), were counted as drug offenders for this analysis. The number of firearms offenders considered to be convicted of a firearms statute carrying a mandatory minimum penalty under this analysis would more than double if such offenders were included in the firearms, rather than the drug, mandatory minimum offender population.

Table 7 shows demographic characteristics of firearms offenders convicted of a statute carrying a mandatory minimum penalty relative to the demographic characteristics of all firearms offenders in the overall fiscal year 2008 caseload.<sup>27</sup>

This table excludes cases missing information for the variables required for analysis. Summary Percentages may not equal 100 percent due to rounding.

3. Immigration, Fraud, and Criminal Sexual Abuse/Pornography/Prostitution Offenses

Immigration offenses, fraud offenses, and offenses involving criminal sexual abuse, pornography, and prostitution, together accounted for 8.6 percent (1,682 of the 19,628 offenders) of the offenders who were convicted of a statute carrying a mandatory minimum penalty in fiscal year 2008.

Immigration offenses accounted for 27.3 percent of the overall federal caseload in fiscal year 2008<sup>28</sup> but just over one percent of all convictions under mandatory minimum statutes (237 of the 19,628 offenders). Of the 19,333 immigration cases in which the offender was sentenced in fiscal year 2008, the Commission received complete guideline information on 18,820 cases. As Table 3 indicates, of those 18,820 cases, in 237 cases (1.3%) the offender was convicted of a statute carrying a mandatory minimum penalty sentence. Of these 237 immigration offenders, 48 offenders (20.3%) were eligible to be sentenced without regard to the statutory mandatory minimum penalty because the substantial assistance provision applied. Of these 48 offenders, 41 offenders (17.3% of the 237 offenders) were sentenced without regard to and below the statutory mandatory minimum penalty. The remaining 7 offenders (3.0% of the 237 offenders) received a sentence at or above the statutory mandatory minimum.

In fiscal year 2008, fraud offenses accounted for 12.1 percent of the overall federal caseload<sup>29</sup> but only 2.7 percent of the offenders convicted of an offense carrying a statutory mandatory minimum penalty. Of the 8,591 fraud cases in which the offender was sentenced in fiscal year 2008, the Commission received complete guideline information on 8,189 cases. As Table 3 indicates, of those 8,189 cases, in 525 cases the offender was convicted of a statute carrying a mandatory minimum penalty sentence. Of these 525 fraud offenders, 91 offenders (17.3%) were eligible to be sentenced without regard to the statutory mandatory minimum penalty because the substantial assistance provision applied. Of these 91 offenders, 33 offenders (6.3% of the 525 offenders) were sentenced without regard to and below the statutory mandatory minimum penalty. The remaining 58 offenders (11.0% of the 525 offenders) received a sentence at or above the statutory mandatory minimum.

In fiscal year 2008, criminal sexual abuse, pornography, and prostitution offenses represent 3.0 percent of the overall federal caseload but 4.7% of the offenders convicted of an offense carrying a statutory mandatory minimum penalty. Of the 2,087 criminal sexual abuse/pornography/prostitution cases in which the offender was sentenced in fiscal year 2008, the Commission received complete guideline information on 2,034 cases. As indicated on Table 3, of those 2,034 cases, in 920 cases the offender was convicted of a statute carrying a mandatory minimum penalty sentence. Of these 920 offenders, 42 offenders (4.6%) were eligible to be sentenced without regard to the statutory mandatory minimum penalty because the substantial assistance provision applied. Of these 42 offenders, 27 offenders (2.9% of the 920 offenders) were sentenced without regard to and below the statutory mandatory minimum penalty. The remaining 15 offenders (1.6% of the 920 offenders) received a sentence at or above the statutory mandatory minimum.

<sup>1</sup>This table lists federal criminal statutes that require the imposition of at least a specified minimum term of imprisonment when certain criteria specified in the statute are met. Statutes that provide for imprisonment for "any term of years" or require only a minimum specified term of supervised release or less than listed in Appendix A because some statutory provisions listed in Appendix A were collapsed for data collection purposes.

<sup>2</sup>This table reports the number of counts of conviction under each statute providing a mandatory minimum term of imprisonment. Because an offender may be sentenced for multiple counts of conviction which carry mandatory minimum penalties, the total number of counts of conviction reported in this table exceeds the total number of offenders subject to a mandatory minimum as reported elsewhere in the testimony.
